

Bring in Guides Like Photoshop

---

I like the way guides work in photoshop (where I can drag as many as I want from the side ruler. I know I can create them in MUSE, but they can't move since they are fixed to columns and I understand that. But I would like to be able to bring out a free floating guide I can position anywhere. I came across the need for this because sometimes when a page has a lot of stuff I want to get aligned right the snap guides don't always seem to work very well. Being able to bring out a quick guide to align something would be awesome.

Thanks!
