

Possible Later BC.Next Module update {module_formresults}

For system form pages create a new module to display form results.

For the system page this would still work the same but also support collection ability under the new rendering engine allowing people to finally arrange and sort the module

The added bonus is that this could then be used on custom landing pages as well.